The reason for our argument for upgrading this journal can be summarised as follows:

1. It is an established refereed accounting research journal of international standing that boasts editorial board credentials and reputation equal to or better than accounting research journals currently rated as "A".

2. Its editorial board members and associate editors span senior professors and leading scholars in the field across the UK, USA, Canada, Australia, the Asian region and more.

3. Its papers published are by both leading young scholars as well as professorial researcher leaders in the field from around the world and the quality of research being published in this journal matches the ABDC “A” listed accounting journals.

4. Comparable journals to JAOC such as: British Accounting Review; Management Accounting Research; Financial Accountability & Management - are all rated as “A” journals on the 2010 ABDC listing.

5. The JAOC is committed to high quality research on contemporary issues in organizational and accounting changes. It aims at providing a platform for international researchers and practitioners from multiple disciplines to disseminate information on organisational and accounting systems change. The journal employs a double blind review policy consistent with the best practice of journals ranked of the highest quality.

6. It is also worth noting that the large and experience Editorial Board of JAOC is in many ways superior to several other journals that got A* and As. The current acceptance rate is about 20%. The journal satisfies the "A" ranked journals quality criteria as specified in the ABDC guidelines.

7. Recommenders (appendix C3) have all evaluated the journal as either 'A' or 'B'. Given it is already ranked 'B' by the 2010 ERA journal listing and has since then made giant strides in terms of quality of publications from eminent scholars, e.g. Robert Kaplan, Hanne Norreklit, Ken Merchant, Steve Salterio, Jesse Dillard, Trevor Hopper, and Sven Modell, we are of the view that the journal be elevated to 'A'.

QC10. Executive Summary (word limit: 250 words fully presented on this page only). In the space below succinctly highlight the key elements of your case for upgrading the rating of the designated journal. Please use a "bullet point" style where possible.
SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: APPENDIX CHECKLIST

The ABDC invites further supplementary and supporting information to be submitted by way of appendices.

QC11. What supplementary information are you supplying (by way of appendices) to support your submission?

The following documents are attached in support of this application (please tick boxes as relevant):

- Appendix C1: List of Editorial Board Members
- Appendix C2: Description and Scope of Journal
- Appendix C3: Recommendations from eminent scholars in the relevant field
- Appendix C4: Comparisons with existing rated journals
- Appendix C5: Coverage in review articles
- Appendix C6: Impact Factors: SSCI or others
- Appendix C7: Other supporting documentation
- Appendix C8: Signatory Details – in cases where there are more than one signatory to the submission, list all signatory names and their university or relevant affiliations (this appendix should articulate with the answer given to QC9 above).

The main objective of the journal is to provide a platform for researchers and practitioners from multiple disciplines to disseminate information on organizational and accounting systems change. It commenced its publication since 2005. The journal publishes four issues per year.

It was ranked by ERA 2010 B. It is currently ranked C on the ABDC ranking.

Rigorous Peer Review Process – The journal operates a double blind peer review process and currently has a rejection rate of 75%.

Indexed and Abstracted – The journal is indexed in Scopus (2011 onwards only). It is also abstracted by the following: The British Library, Cabell's Directory, PROQUEST, and EBSCO.

Ranked – The journal is ranked on the following ranking indexes: UK ABS (2010) 1, NSD Norway (1).

Global Dissemination – The journal is available on the Emerald platform and via Proquest. In 2012 articles from the journal received over 34,000 full text downloads via Emerald alone.

Established – The journal is now entering its 9th volume (2013). It hosts the Global Accounting & Organizational Change conference every two years. The previous conferences were held in: a) Melbourne (2008); Boston (2010 by Babson College); Kuala Lumpur (2012 by Sunway University). The next conference will be held in Dubai (2014 by United Arab Emirates University).

International Authorship – The journal is international and publishes articles from across the world. In 2012 24% of authors were from Australasia.

Fast Publication – Issues are published via Emerald shortly after acceptance, to ensure quick dissemination of the latest of research.

Convenient Submission Process - The journal uses Scholar One manuscripts for all article submissions.

Coverage – In addition to regular articles and book reviews, it publishes Doctoral Abstracts, which is a unique addition to this journal.

The JAOC editorial board numbers over 80 academics from many countries around the globe, ranging from long established senior scholars to the next generation of leading edge researchers. Prominent academics include Professor Michael Bromwich (London School of Economics, UK), Professor Shahid Ansari (Babson College, USA), Professor Richard Laughlin (Kings College, London), Professor Trevor Hopper (University of Sussex, UK), Professor Wai Fong Chua (University of New South Wales, Australia) Professor Tim Fogarty (Case Western University, USA), Professor Robert Chenhall (Monash University, Australia), Professor Ken Merchant (University of Southern California, USA), Professor Steven Salterio (Queen’s University Business School, Canada), Professor Lee Parker (University of South Australia), Professor James Guthrie (University of Sydney) and Professor Jean-Francois Manzoni (IMD, Switzerland). The Board has a very international flavour, with academics from 17 countries represented. Australia has a very strong influence, with 15 members from a dozen different universities.

All papers submitted to JAOC are subject to double blind refereeing by two referees, and JAOC has a time-lag from paper acceptance to final publication is generally 12 months, and the journal’s acceptance rate is currently less than 25% compared with 34% in 2006 and 43% in 2005.

A recent special issue (Vol. 8, Number 4, 2012) was on the Balanced Scorecard to mark the 20th Anniversary of the Balanced Scorecard. Prominent writers, among others, for this special issue include Robert Kaplan, Steve Salterio, Sven Modell, Hanne Norreklit, Falconer Mitchell, Cristiano Busco and Niels Dechow.

Dear Zahirul

I write in full support of your submission to the Australian Business Deans Council (ABDC) to re-rank the Journal of Accounting and Organizational Change (JAOC) from its current rating of C to an A.

As you know I have been an Associate Editor of JAOC from the outset. I agreed to this position on the grounds that I was convinced then and am even more convinced now of the importance of JAOC in terms of its mission and emphasis. JOAC was to fill an important gap in the dissemination of interdisciplinary and critical perspectives on accounting with its specialist interest in change in accounting and organisations. It has achieved this to date with great success and will, I am sure, continue to do so.

Since its inception, nine years ago, JAOC has published exceptionally high quality papers written by a range of international scholars. These papers are widely cited and are making a significant contribution to our understanding about accounting and organisational change. The editorial board contains a wide-range of internationally acclaimed and widely recognised scholars and specialists in interdisciplinary and critical perspectives on accounting. It is pleasing to see that the submissions to JAOC have continued to grow since its inception and that the acceptance rate of 25% is a clear recognition of its quality control and standing in the international community.

I have, therefore, no hesitation whatsoever in supporting your case for a re-ranking of JOAC from a C to A in the ABDC journal rankings. To rank JAOC as a C is an injustice and needs to be corrected. Assuming the ABDC are using the Australian Research Council definitions of journals that they used in their 2010 journal ranking exercise JAOC should indeed be ranked A. JAOC has all the characteristics of an A category journal and should, in my view, be classified as such in the new ABDC rankings.

I wish you well in your application.

With very best wishes

Richard Laughlin
Emeritus Professor of Accounting
Dear Zahirul

I write about the ranking of JOAC which must surely be raised in your Australian Deans rankings. Whilst I have reservations about the rankings process if it is to be used then it should reflect the quality of the journal population fairly. JOAC suffered from being a newer journal than many and perhaps at the time it was last graded this relative age of the journal led to a conservative view being reflected in the original ranking awarded. This is unfair and a disincentive to authors who have to meet the publication standards of A and B set by the same Deans. Despite the disincentive the journal has flourished and is publishing international standard publications. In short I would argue that the journal is now well established and is a publication choice for many authors. It is publishing internationally recognised papers, providing original insights, with international standards of rigour, that add to the field and are essential to others working in similar fields. The editorial board is international and well respected. I do hope that this will be understood and acknowledged by those conducting the review of rankings - the journal should be ranked at least at B and some papers are of the highest standard suggesting that the trajectory of the journal should be to A grade in the near future.

The Accounting 1501 Panel
Australian Business Deans Council
2013 Quality Review

To Whom It May Concern:

I believe the current ranking of the Journal of Accounting and Organizational Change is too low and unjustified. When compared to other "A" ranked journals in accounting, the journal shares many of the same authors, editorial board members and journal qualities.

The journal has a highly reputed editorial board; many members are thought leaders and are associated with top institutions. Additionally, many renowned international authors have published in JAOC. It is published by an internationally reputed publisher, Emerald Publishing, that has several business journals that got A", A’s and B’s. JAOC has now been accepted for inclusion in Scopus and other bodies.

It is also worth noting that the editorial board includes members with experience that is superior or equal to several other journals that got A* and A’s. Further, the current acceptance rate is about 20%. The journal satisfies the "A" and “B” ranked journals quality criteria as specified in the ABDC guidelines. The journal employs a double blind review policy consistent with the best practice of journals ranked of the highest quality.

JOAC’s articles are written by both emerging young scholars as well as professorial researcher leaders from around the world. Worth noting, in addition to its regular coverage, JOAC publishes Doctoral Abstracts which are an "excellent" source of reference for higher degree research students and supervisors across the globe. The quality of research being published in this journal matches not only ABDC “B” listed accounting journals, but “A” listed accounting journals as well. JAOC is comparable to journals such as Accounting and the Public Interest; Qualitative Research in Accounting and Management; Accounting in Europe; Accounting Historian Journal; Journal of Public Budgeting, Accounting and Financial Management; Pacific Accounting Review. All these journals are rated as “B” journals on the 2010 ABDC listing.

I respectively request that the committee reconsider the classification of the journal and give it a rating consistent with its quality.

Sincerely,

Jan Bell
Weintraub Professor of Accounting
JOURNAL OF ACCOUNTING AND ORGANIZATIONAL CHANGE
RANKING UPGRADE SUBMISSION

EMINENT SCHOLAR RECOMMENDATION

I am writing with respect to the submission being made for the upgrading of the refereed accounting research journal - Journal of Accounting and Organizational Change (JAOC) from ABDC Rank C to ABDC Rank B.

My remarks are based on my research and publishing as an interdisciplinary scholar working in the qualitative management accounting, accounting control, strategic management and corporate governance fields internationally. I serve not only as founding co-editor of Accounting, Auditing & Accountability Journal, but on the editorial boards of over 25 refereed research journals worldwide, and act as a research assessor and advisor to government and professional research bodies in Australia, Europe, Asia and the Middle East.

I unreservedly support the upgrading of Journal of Accounting and Organizational Change (JAOC) to ABDC Rank B. My reasons are as follows:

1. It is moving into its 9th year of publication and now stands as a refereed research journal of strong international profile, with researchers competing for publication in its pages. I understand its acceptance rate to be at 25% and that it has more than the next year of issues already filled with accepted papers.

2. Its editorial board is stronger than many currently B rated accounting journals, with around 80 scholars drawn from countries around the globe.

3. It is publishing research by leading scholars as well as the best emerging scholars internationally in the accounting & organizational change fields.

4. Since 2008, it has built a regular associated research conference that moves across international locations including Australia, Asia, North America and next year, the Middle East.

5. Its Editor, Professor Zahirul Hoque has built an internationally based and focussed research journal and community that offers a broad scope of interdisciplinary accounting research subjects, methodologies and theoretical perspectives.

6. The journal exhibits a profile, international presence, quality of published research and scholarly credentials that easily match (and in quite a few cases surpasses) accounting journals already ranked at B by the ABDC listings.

As a more recently developed research journal, JAOC has definitely “earned its spurs” and now stands well established amongst the B – ranked journals in the accounting literature. To allow it to remain at the ABDC Rank C level would be an injustice of significant proportion.
I am delighted that a professor based in Australia has from inception, developed this worthy journal with a leading British publishing house, and placed it firmly on the world stage as a significant and growing contributor to the international research literature.

Sincerely

Dear Sir

2013 Journal Quality Review

I am writing to commend that the Journal of Accounting and Organizational Change be raised from a C to a B rating. This is a relatively new journal, based in Australia, in a relatively young subject area which still has insufficient established journals. The journal has an international and prestigious editorial board, all articles are double blind refereed, and it has attracted good quality research articles from across the world. It is compares well with many other B journals. The journal merits an increase to a B this rating, which would rectify an anomaly and will enable it to further advance research in this field.

Yours sincerely

Trevor Hopper
